You know that friend: The one who's constantly posting memes associated with their zodiac sign, inquiring about their dates' birth times (and logging it on Co-Star), or always blaming Mercury Retrograde for being late. On the hunt for something perfect for them this holiday season? An astrology gift is a guaranteed way to show them you're really listening when they break down every piece of their Sun, Moon, and rising sign — or just know their fascination with testing compatibility via star signs.

Luckily, society's general obsession with astrology means your gift selection expands far beyond a basic star sign necklace. Leo-embroidered sweatshirts and horoscope-focused card games make up just a small subset of the countless gifts available for your endlessly curious zodiac lover. And pro tip: If you know your recipient's Mars sign, you might want to steer toward astrology gifts that correspond to it, since the planet of action influences what motivates and drives your wellness routines.

Ready to get your gift on? Ahead, find the astrology gifts your loved ones will actually be impressed with receiving. (
